You wake up one morning and it's over. This girl is a woman now or something of that nature. You face the world. But how? You think, "Who am I?" or even "What?" Nothing, maybe. It's all up to you. There's that chance. That chance that maybe you'll change, just like the leaves of autumn. Maturity? What's that? Is it something you get when you take that first drink or smoke your first cigarette? And if so—what next? The leaves then fall, some to join the masses; others to blow away, seeking new horizons. And there are those still clinging to the branch, alone, worrying about the future. But what will they accomplish? Rich man, poor man, beggar man, thief?

Step right up, folks, and play the game of chance. Around and around and around we go. Where we stop—nobody knows. Underclassmen. What are they except freshmen, sophomores, and juniors all hoping to someday become seniors (or maybe, budding geniuses). It's like in the spring when the leaves come forth into a completely new situation. And how they face that situation is entirely up to them. Tomorrow's establishment. The first autumn is yet to come.

School spirit. It's part of the game. People get emotional. Some cry. Others scream. And then there's silence. A type of silence you've never heard before until you've sat through a Husky game. A silence that's so quiet; yet it's deafening. What a play . . . 25 seconds to go. We've just got to win! We've just got to! They can't give up . . . it's over . . . Yeaaaa team.

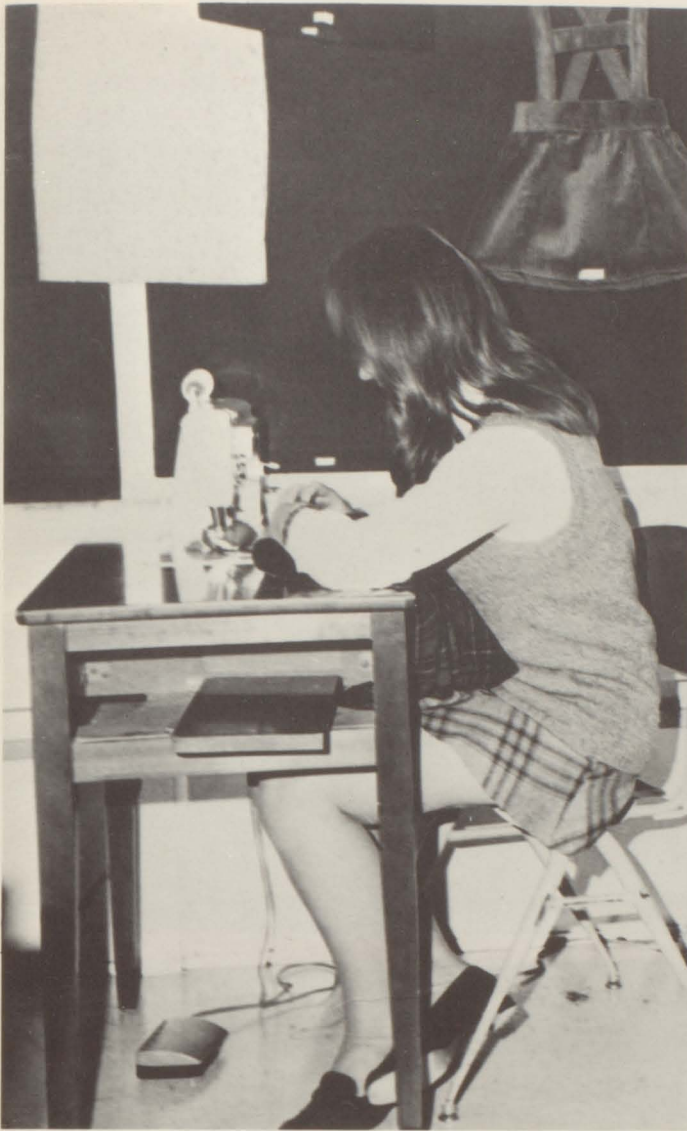

All the lonely people, where do they all come from? School. What would it be without those "extras"? Student Council, French Club, The Mardi Gras, Chess Club, Mu Alpha Theta, The Senior Prom. The list is endless. Activities that so many cling to. They help the individual to branch out and meet new people. They offer the support so many need. It's great! It's fun! Eat, drink, and be merry

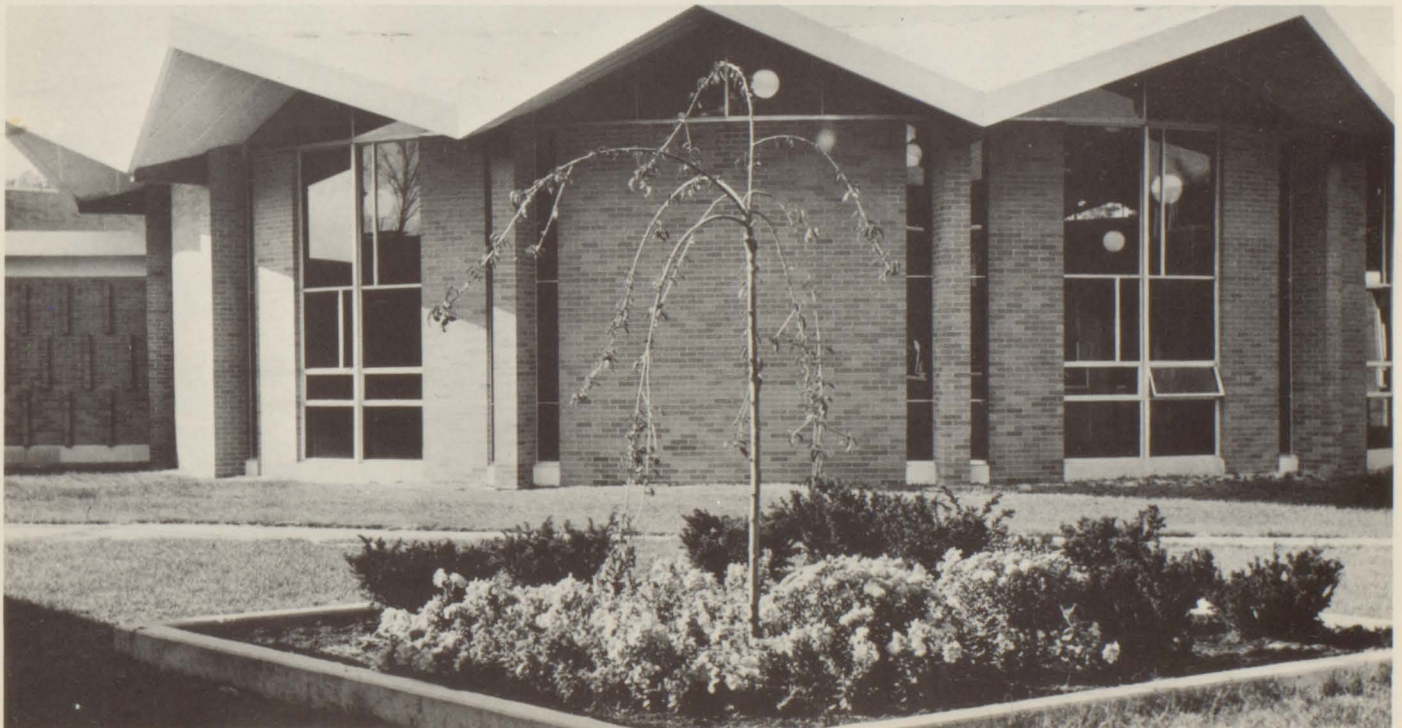

"Change the curriculum!" A common cry in many schools today. "Make it relevant!" Science books are obsolete before they're published. Newspoints are useless. What's to be done? Academics, like the trunk of a tree, is growing bigger, broader, and better—but wait until next year. Changes are on the way. Big changes. We are taking a step towards a brighter future.

Port Huron. The Blue Water Bridge. McMorran Arena and Auditorium. The roots of our town; the roots that hold us together, support us, and help us lead a well-meaning life. At times things get dull. There's nothing to do! Why—we've only got a YMCA, Flags games, SCCCC, Lakeside The list is endless!!!

Board of Education Solves School Problems

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION: Martin E. Weiss; Mrs. Alice McKinnon; Mrs. Ruth Douvas; A. B. Carlisle, President;

Elwin F. Hartwig; William K. Gilbert, resigned; and H. J. Hazledine, M. D.

The Port Huron Area School District Board of Education is the reason for the high standard of education in this area. The members meet twice a month to discuss school policies, business items, new personnel, budget appropriations, and expenditures for the school district.

Many of the members have been on the Board of Education for several years. For instance, Mr. A. B. Carlisle was first elected in 1957. This year another member, Dr. Hazledine, was asked to join the nine-member Executive Board of the Michigan School Board Association. It is an organization for school board members from all over Michigan.

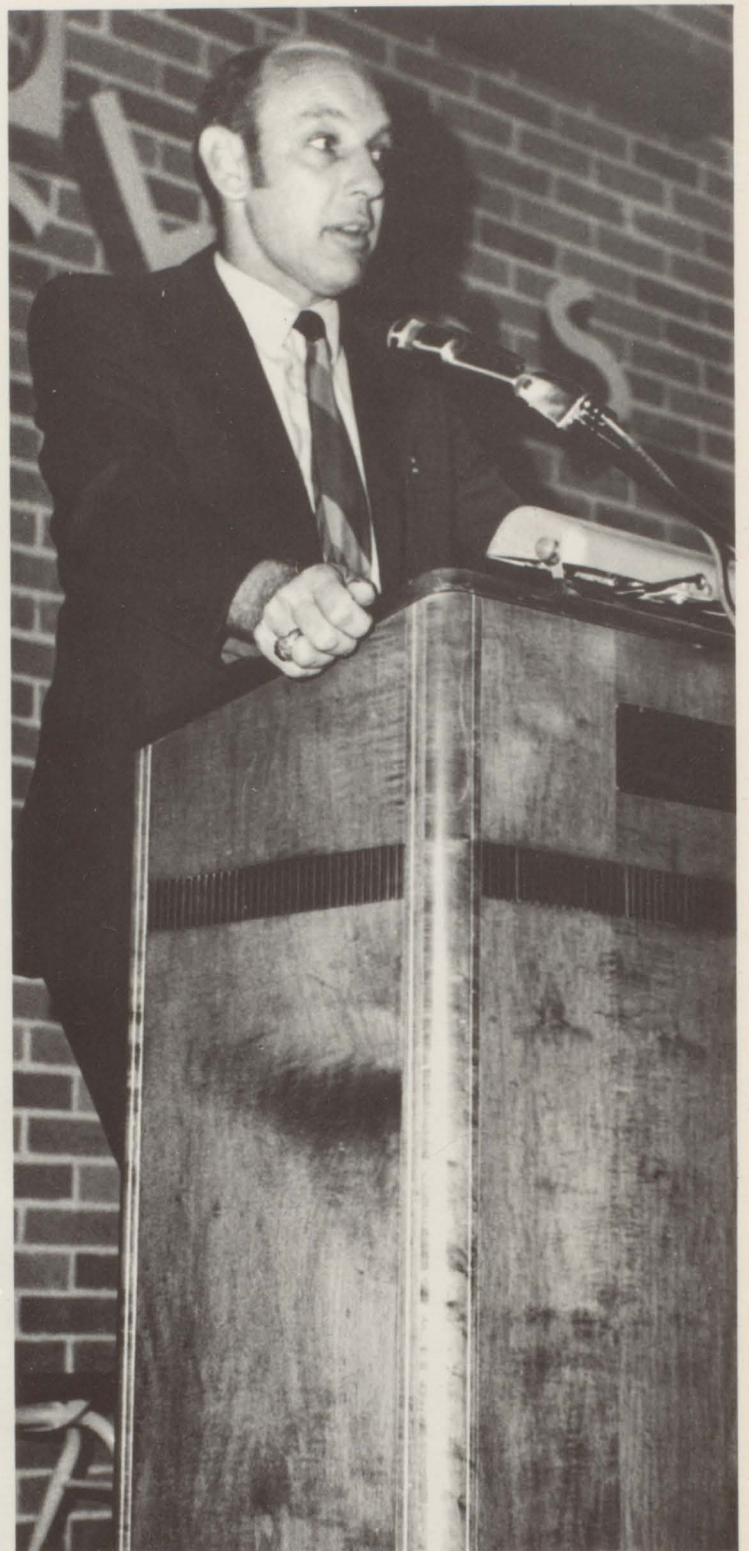

Other members of the Board are Martin E. Weiss, Mrs. Alice McKinnon, Mrs. Ruth Douvas, and Elwin F. Hartwig. William K. Gilbert resigned this year and the Board appointed Rev. Frederick Schoof to take his place.

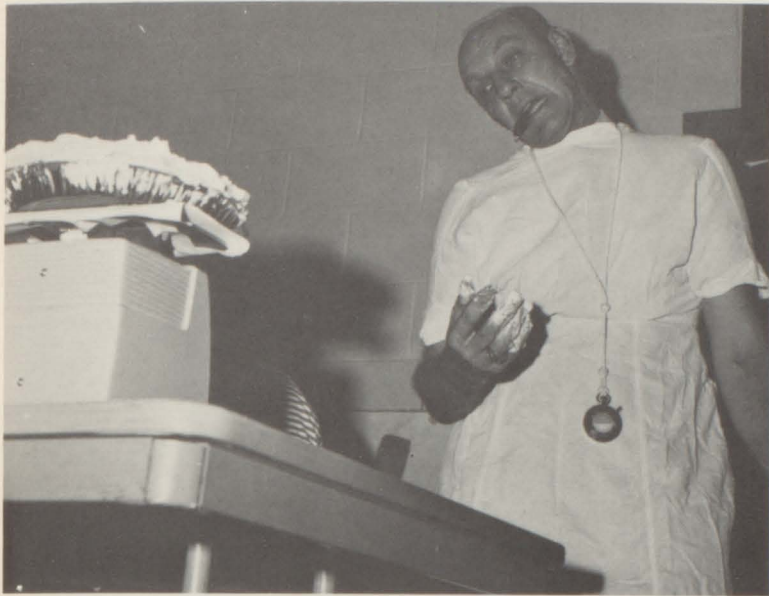

The Board of Education has the time-consuming job of maintaining and improving the education program in this community. It is a responsibility that the members do not take lightly. As a result, the Port Huron Area School District enjoys a high standard of education.

Dr. Gerald S. DeGrow's immediate interest as Superintendent of the Port Huron Area School District is that of carrying out Board policy in prompting the best education and the best possible facilities for the public school students. He also acts as a coordinator between the various schools when problems arise. Presently Dr. DeGrow and the Board of Education are studying the possibility of year-round school and the revision of school dress and attendance policies. After receiving the Doctor of Education Degree in the General School Administration from the University of Michigan in 1964, Dr. DeGrow was appointed Superintendent here. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Michigan Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development and the American Association of School Administration.

Dedication and concern are words that describe our principal, Mr. James E. Overly. Two of his main concerns are relevancy to the changing world and how to prepare youth for the future. In this age of change, he believes in tradition and feels that tradition should only be changed for a better system. Mr. Overly has worked in the education field for eighteen years and has been the principal of PHN since it opened. He is a great man doing a difficult job and deserves our sincere appreciation.

Mr. Raymond Morehead, assistant principal of Port Huron Northern, is a man on the move!! He is in charge of scheduling of students as well as the recording of their grades on the report cards. He also keeps track of what the clubs at Northern are doing.

Mr. Morehead considers the Northern students a great group of kids. The good reputation Northern has outside of Port Huron also pleases him.

Did you ever think what it would be like if the two men who run our school didn't have a woman behind them to help them out? Mr. Moorehead's secretary, Mrs. Velma Shepard, above left, checks the business accounts of the International Accounting Record of the school, while Mrs. Clara Wellman, Mr. Overly's secretary, below, concerns herself with detailed payroll matters and organizational finances. She also keeps track of teacher absences and the reports of substitutes.

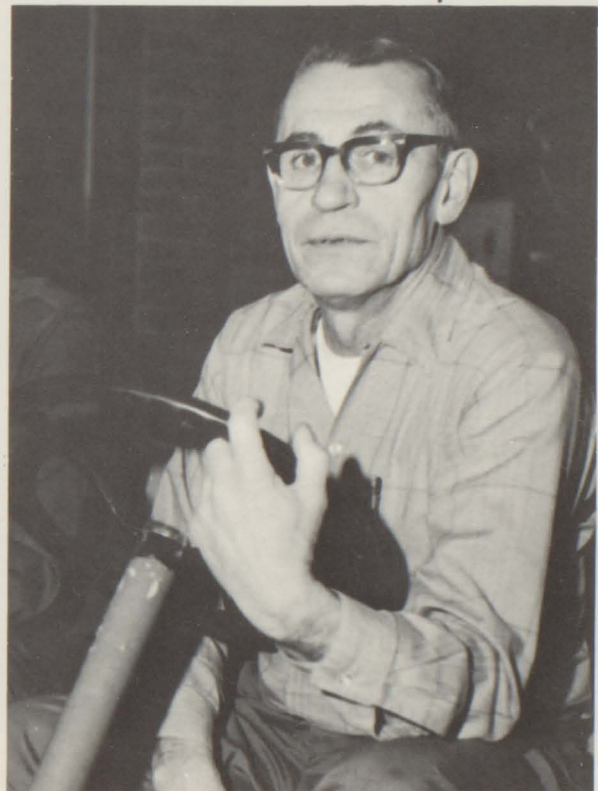

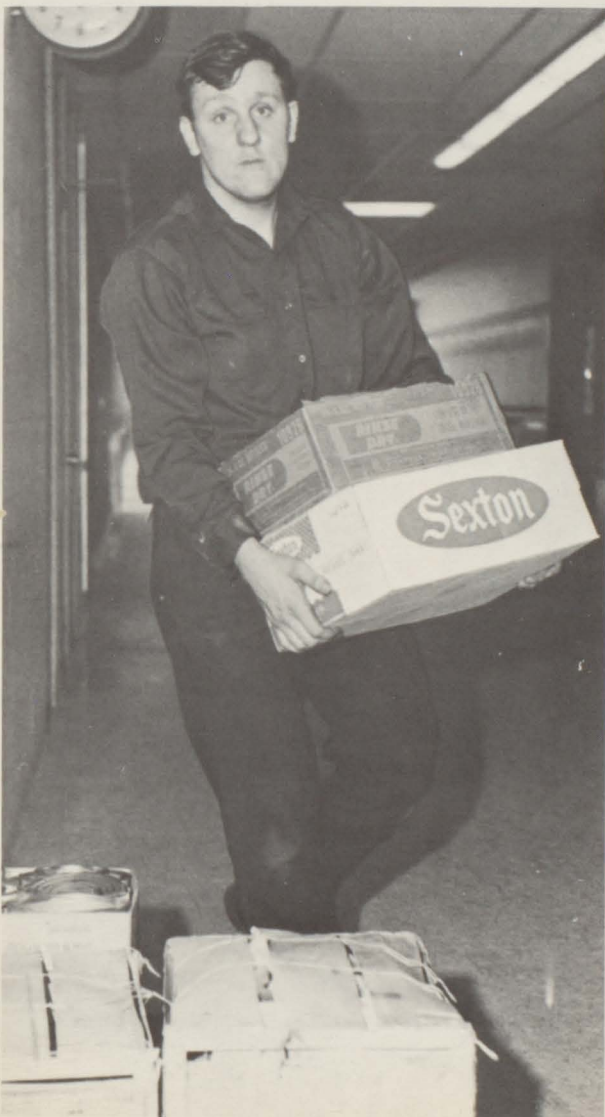

If there was ever a woman that is appreciated at Northern, it's Marjorie Green, head cook at school. Mrs. Green, along with her staff, prepares nourishing lunches daily for Northern students, as well as pupils of area elementary and intermediate schools.

If you like variety, it exists in our cafeteria. Lunches consist of everything from pizza to potato chips and soup to sandwiches, all designed to fit the budget.

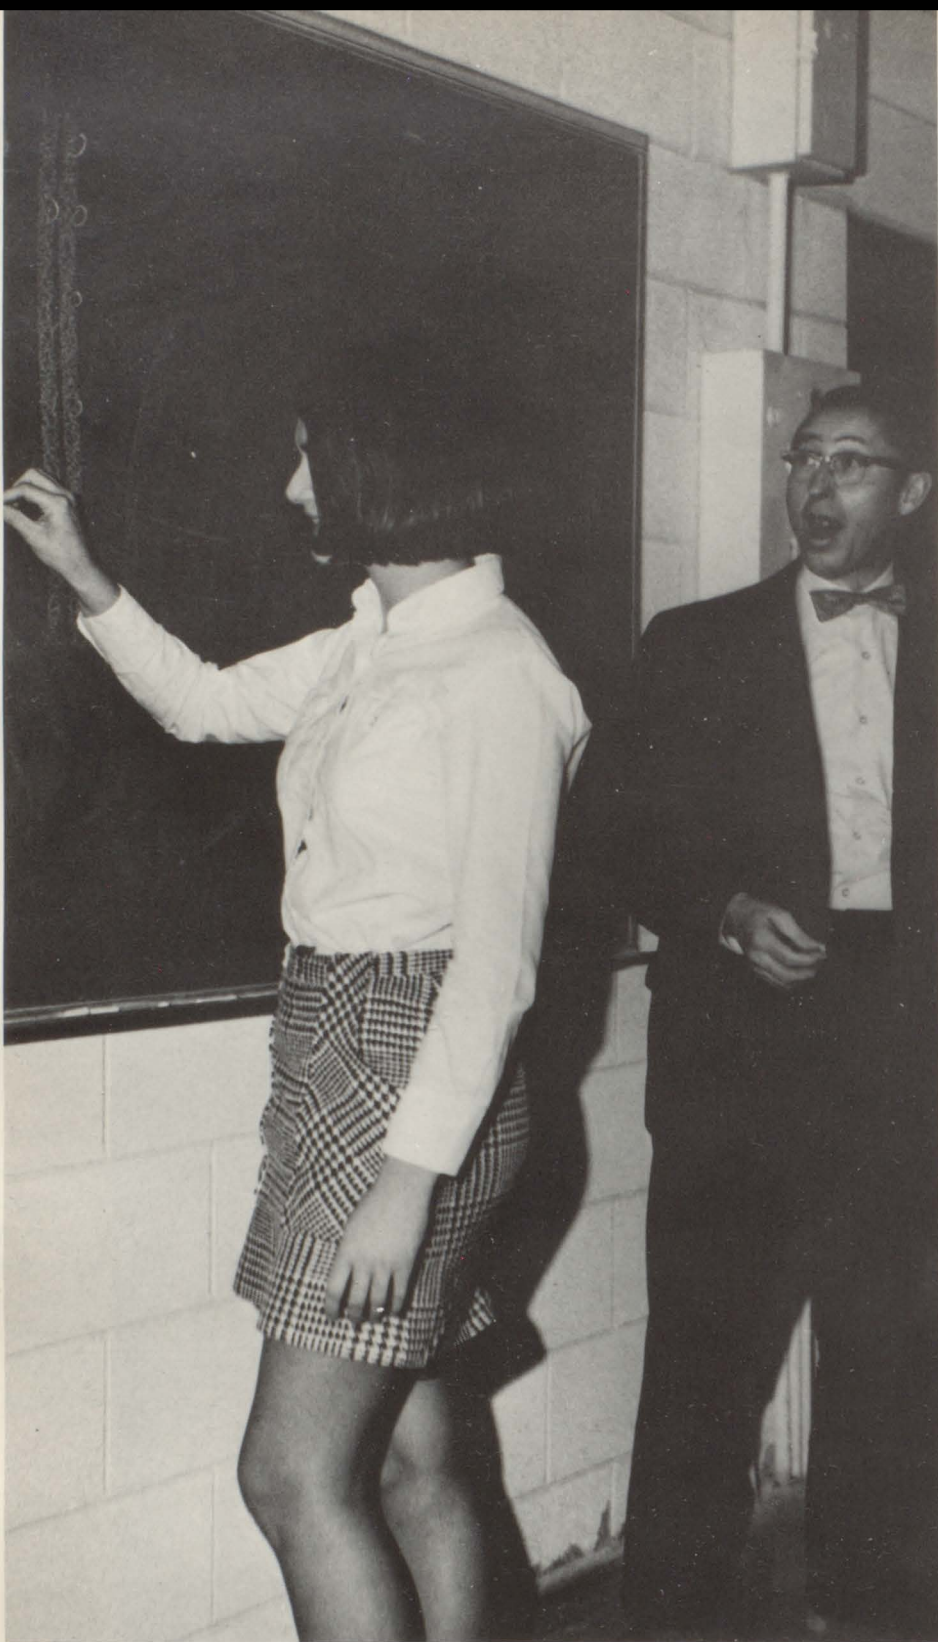

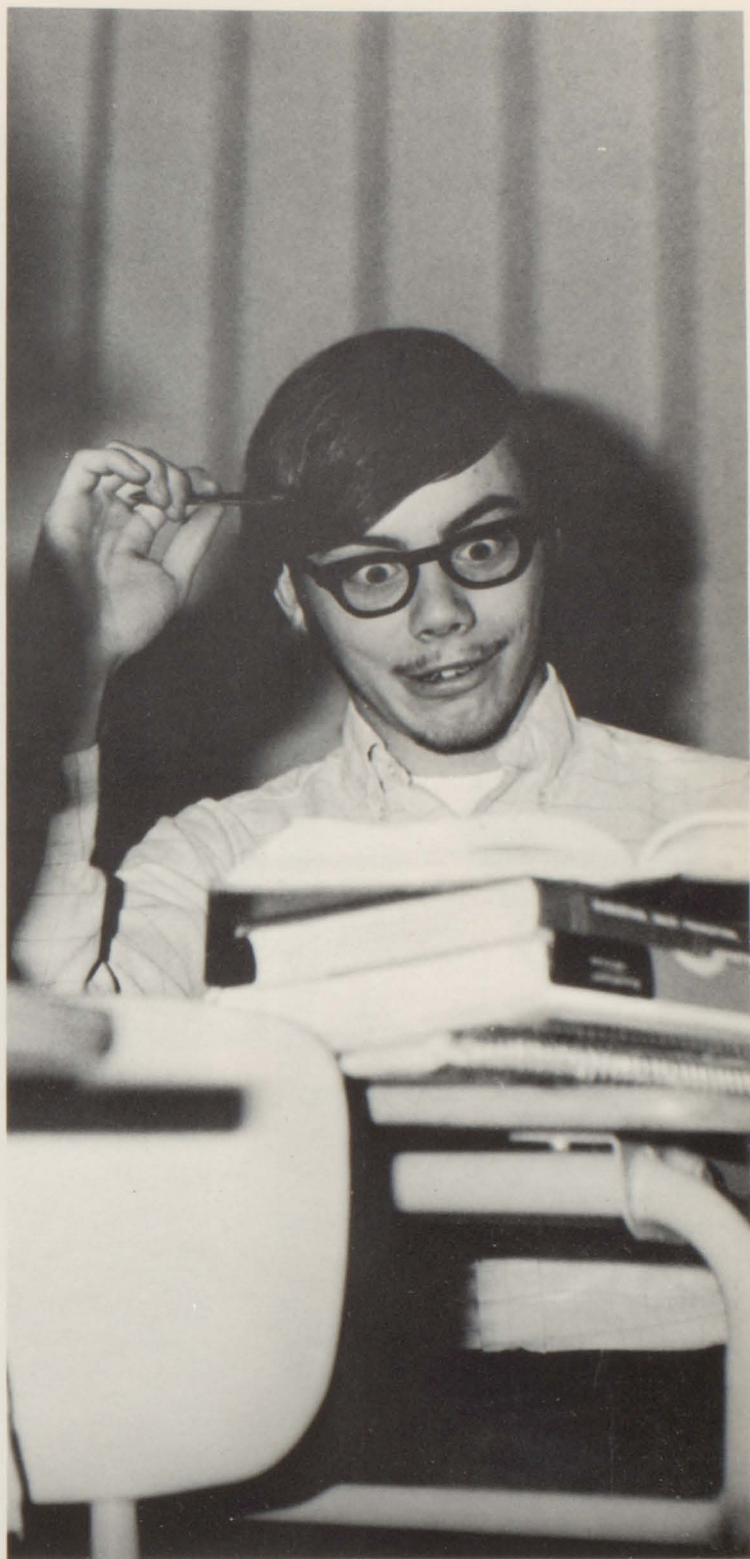

Mr. Robert Barr and his staff of men are busy twenty four hours of the day, keeping up the high standards of Northern. They are classified as doing "the dirty work at Northern". These custodians are a great asset to our school. What would we do without them?

Social Studies—a Reflection of

Mr. Cyril Smith
Chairman

Mrs. Eugenie Becker

Mr. Robert Clark

Social Studies gives the student a panoramic view of the world around him. Five subject areas are covered. Civics concentrates on the government and its functions. World Problems deals with the cultures of nations from prehistoric times to the present. American History is a study of the development of the United States. Problems of Democracy looks into the social, economic, and political problems of the nation and the world. Black Culture, a new course this year, is concerned with black history in America.

BELOW RIGHT: Miss Fran Korbela makes good use of her hands as she stresses an important point in her English 3 and 4 class.

The English Department offers the students a variety of courses to choose from. As a freshman and sophomore, classes are keyed to the capabilities of the individual. Whether a communications, regular, or college prep course is chosen, grammar and composition are primarily stressed. American Literature, a concentrated study of American authors is required of all juniors. Seniors may elect to take Senior Composition, World Literature, or English Literature. Preparation for college in the form of creative writing and the reading of various novels is the prime objective. Both beginning and advanced speech classes give the students a chance to prove their speaking ability. The Journalism Class works on articles for the student section of the local paper, and is preparation for the Compass staff.

Math Encourages Deep Thinkers

Mr. Rex Aurand

Mr. Ronald Davey

Because many of our scientific advances in today's world involves mathematical principles it is very important for all students to take advantage of the variety of mathematics courses offered at Northern. P r a c t i c a l Mathematics and General Mathematics deal with the basic fundamentals, while Algebra students learn how to solve both simple and linear equations. Plane and Solid Geometry is covered in a three year course. Trigonometry stresses the intricate measurement of angles and triangles. Hypothesis test is developed in calculus, a class which enrolled only one student this year.

Mr. Linford Bond Mr. Thomas Blackney Mr. James Gehman
Chairman

Science is one of the most vital parts of our technological world. Northern's Science department gives interested students a number of excellent courses designed to educate and challenge. General science, physical science, earth science, biology, chemistry, and physics are offered. In addition to lectures and bookwork, films and special speakers are also used to make each class up to date. Periods of laboratory study include biology dissections and possible chemistry explosions. After all, that's half of the fun!

ABOVE RIGHT: Clear thinking is important in Record Keeping, as these students seem to realize in Mr. David McEwen's sixth-hour class. BELOW LEFT: Those squiggly lines and curly-cues really do mean something, as Marri O'Hare is showing in Mr. Charles Johnson's sixth-hour Note-hand class. BELOW RIGHT: James Holth "does his thing" as the music plays, supposedly to give a feeling of rhythm to first-year typing students in Mr. Ted Zyrowski's third-hour class. Rhythm, yes! But whistling and finger-snapping?

Business Education is designed specifically to help students prepare for business positions and personal business competency. The courses offered at Northern are, general business, typing, shorthand, retailing, record keeping, office practice, and office machines. Many take typing and notehand to be ready for college term papers and lectures, while those choosing office machines or bookkeeping often have vocational plans in mind. Either way, Northern's business program fits the students' needs adequately and each course is run efficiently and with precise accuracy.

Industrial Arts Develops Hidden Skills

The students of Northern's industrial arts program are learning today the skills which will be essential to their jobs of tomorrow. Both beginning and advanced courses are offered in general shop, woods and metals, electronics, mechanical drawing, trade auto, T.V. and radio servicing, and power mechanics. Not only are basic skills learned, but individual exploration in a particular field is also encouraged. The knowledge and experience gained helps those students who are planning a vocation in this area upon graduation or acts as a launching pad to higher education in industrial arts. By the way, girls are welcome, too.

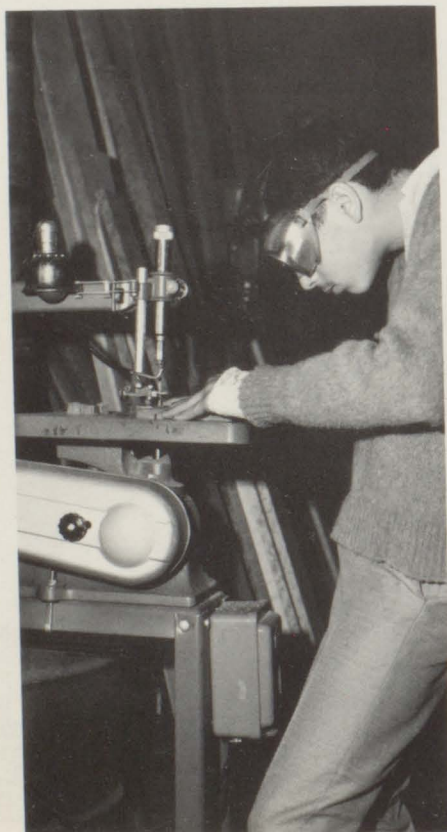

ABOVE: Shelly Monroe doesn't seem to mind being the only girl in Mr. William Kompf's third-hour Mechanical Drawing class. After all, what girl would? BELOW LEFT: In Mr. Richard Baker's Power Mechanics class, Dennis Doan and Dennis Benjamin learn a working knowledge of the carburetor. The Home Economics Department is truly a vital part of Northern's curriculum. It gives girls an opportunity to increase skills in cooking and sewing, whether they may have domestic or vocational plans. Three levels of both clothing and foods classes are designed to broaden homemaking efficiency and knowledge.

Home and Family Living is a one-semester course for seniors covering areas of marriage, child care, and family responsibilities.

New to the department this year is a course in vocational foods. Food preparation as a vocation is primarily stressed.

Miss Betty Hartig instructs Julie Johnson on the proper hand position to use when holding a bow, in Girls advanced gym class.

Miss Betty Hartig sometimes has to do things that really are not quite in keeping with physical activity, such as being Northern's "number one" tennis net mender.

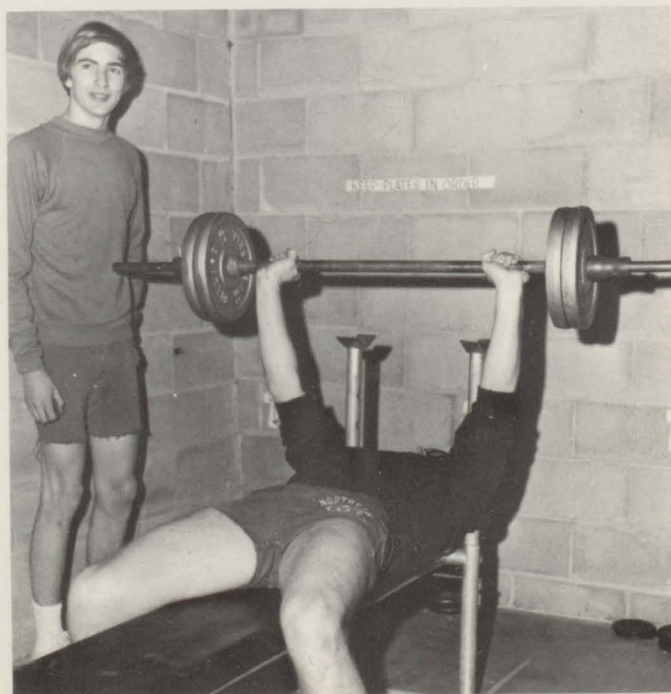

*Mr. Robert Hayes
Chairman*

*Mr. Barry

Mr. James Bates

The purposes of Northern's Physical Education program are to increase athletic skills and to improve health practices. All ninth graders are required to take a physical education class. Class time is spent on calisthenics and a variety of both outdoor and indoor athletic activities. Advanced gym classes are offered to male and female upperclassmen. The main objective is to teach and build confidence in sports which will prove to be worthwhile in later years. The realization of the value and enjoyment of true physical fitness is also encouraged.

Mr. Robert
Criswell

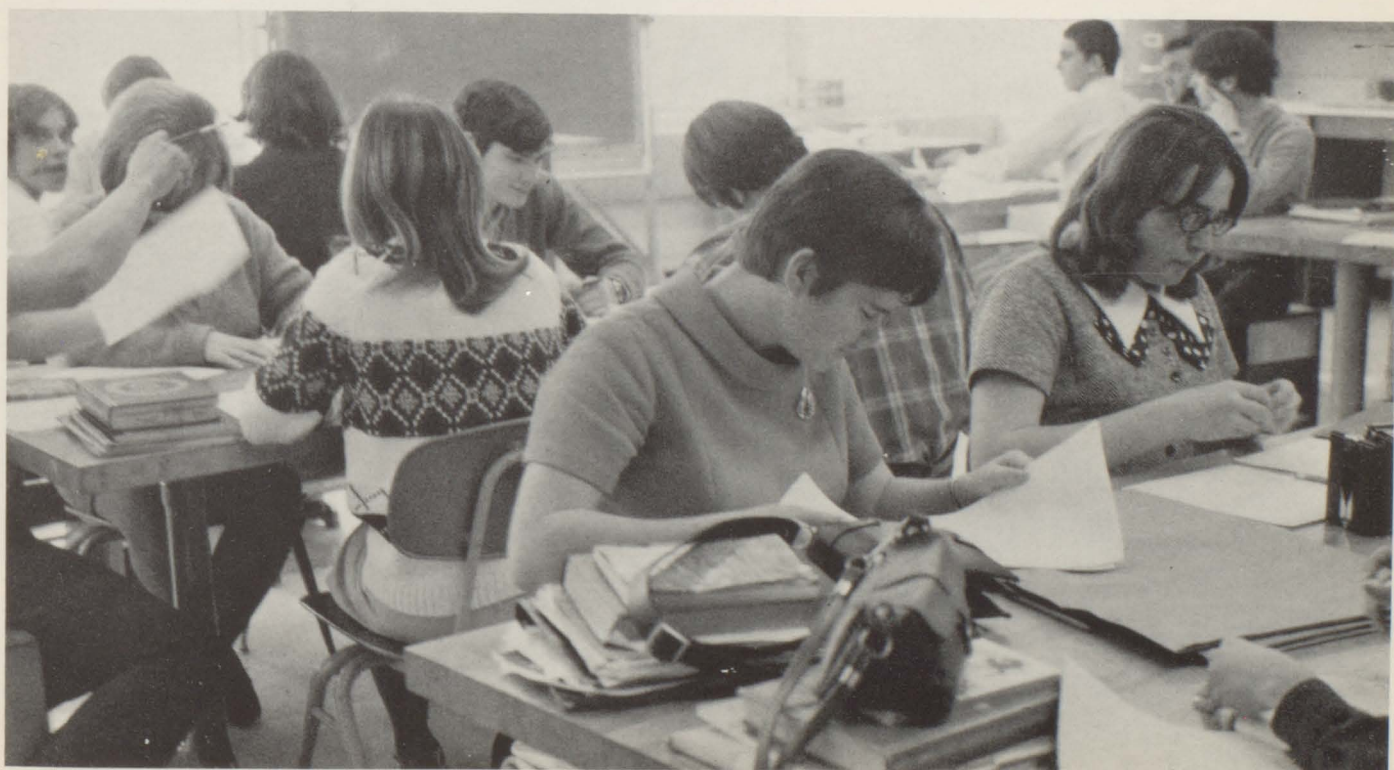

Mr. Steve Tagart

Four levels of Art Education are offered to interested students at Northern. In the first year, study is concentrated around elementary art concepts such as line, color, and texture. The second and third levels are designed to give the student further experience in the first year techniques and also branch out into silk screening, ceramics, and sculpture. Students in the last level are given a choice of independent study in any of the art processes and are encouraged to develop a greater understanding of art processes and vocabulary.

Co-op Students Learn and Earn

Ezra Bartee, employed by Stephenson Electric Company, waits on Linda Hicks as she tries to decide on a suitable wedding gift.

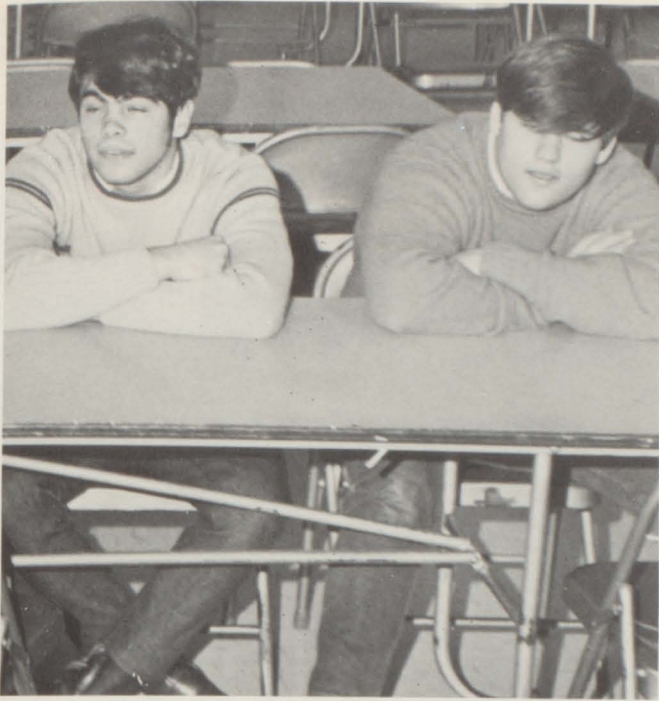

Mr. Allen Gable Mr. Edward Tinsley

The Co-op program gives Northern seniors an opportunity to gain actual work experience in many of the businesses in the Port Huron area. Students earn money for college or personal expenses as well as gain an insight into their future vocation. Most participants carry three academic classes and then report to their job. At certain intervals during the school year, workers are rated by their employer on their work attitude and habits, performance, and personal appearance.

Michael Tacie and Thomas Armbruster put the finishing touches on the co-op display case, one of the projects of students in Mr. Edward Tinsley's co-op related class.

Marshall Barrymore, a local lawyer, dictates details of a case to Marilyn Weston, an afternoon co-op secretary.

Excellent Training Is Offered for Future Drivers

Driver Education is offered to those students who are fifteen years of age and older desiring to drive an automobile. The first part of the course is spent in the study of the technical details of an automobile. Such topics as the motor, traffic procedures, and insurance, are covered. Next, students practice their potential driving skills in a simulator in which are models of instrument panels. Finally, actual driving is experienced in a dual-operated car, accompanied by one of two qualified driving instructors, Mr. William Morrison and Mr. Bernard Palmateer.

ABOVE LEFT: Jack Harr and Brian Keith find it hard to concentrate on drivers training at seven o'clock in the morning. Mrs. Barbara Wismer, Mrs. Gwendolyn Jones, and Mrs. Marsha Wypych tend to their various duties as busy librarians in Northern's library.

Northern's library provides a great number of services to students and faculty. It offers a large variety of magazines, newspapers, vocational booklets, and college catalogs. The walls are covered by some 13,381 books that can be used for reading pleasure or research. Also beneficial to teachers during school hours is a variety of audio-visual machinery, micro-film, movies, and filmstrips. New to the library this year is the circulation of many copies of seven different magazines for use by Problems of Democracy students. The quiet atmosphere of the room is ideal for deep concentration on studies or sleep.

While others may have difficulty reading fine print in the shadows of the library shelves, Gregory Osborn has a better idea.

The Choral Department offers students an outlet from academic subjects. Ninth graders can enroll in the Ninth Grade Chorus. The Girls Glee Club is a formal group singing four-part treble music. Members in A Capella Choir must have had previous experience in the music field. The newly organized Northern Chorale has performed in many civic clubs and participated with the A Capella Choir in the performance of the Faure Requiem with the International Symphony on February 14 and 15, in Sarnia and Port Huron.

student life

You gotta go where you wanna go, do what you wanna do.

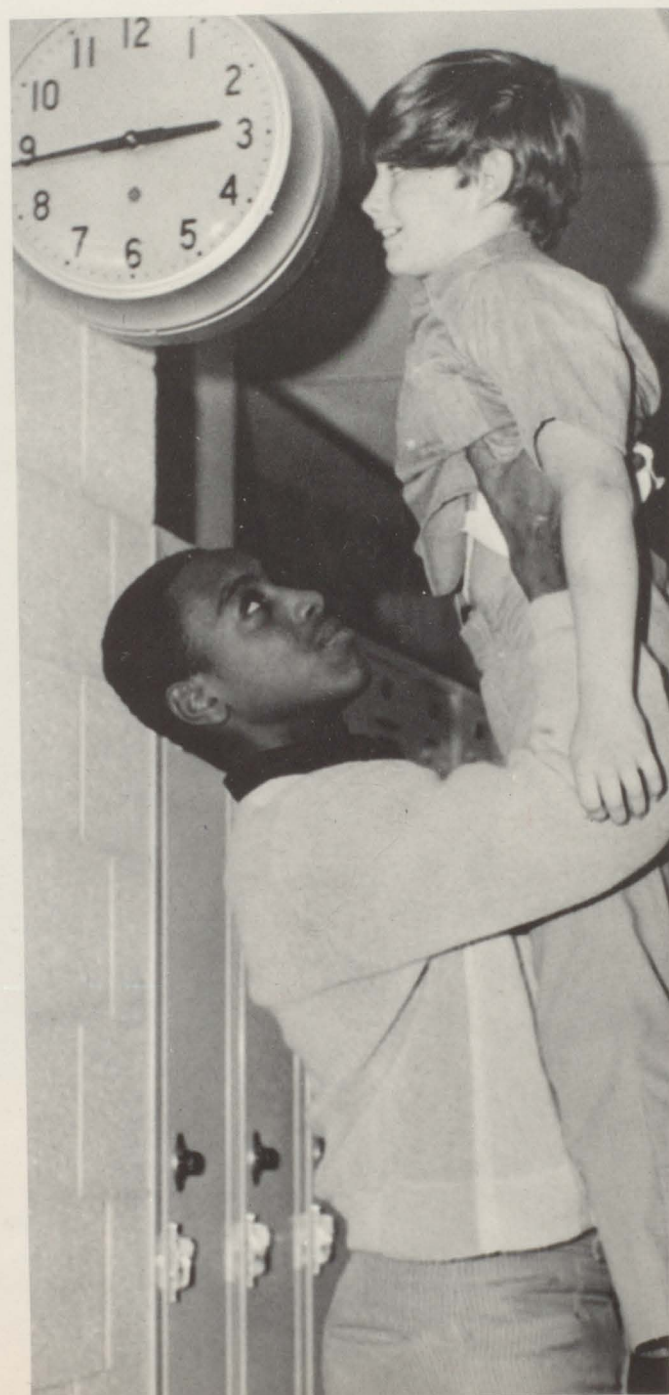

Mamas and the Papas

And the Beat Goes on!

The excitement of Mardi Gras fills the air. The sweet smell of victory. Student Council elections. The excitement of class competition. A new friend, a little romance.

The ability to expand knowledge out of a classroom. Developing skills. Planning and learning together. This is Student Life. And this is what makes our school tick.

Freshmen Surprise Everyone!!

Well, Frosh, good try but bad luck. At least the Frosh retained their title of last place winners for the Mardi Gras Barrel. Good luck next year when you can have a fresh start . . . when the new Freshmen take your place.

more, Janet Ledsworth. BELOW: Julie Keys, Wendy Wirtz, Barbara Baker, Debra Papinaw, Gretchen Cheney, and Deborah Nunn.

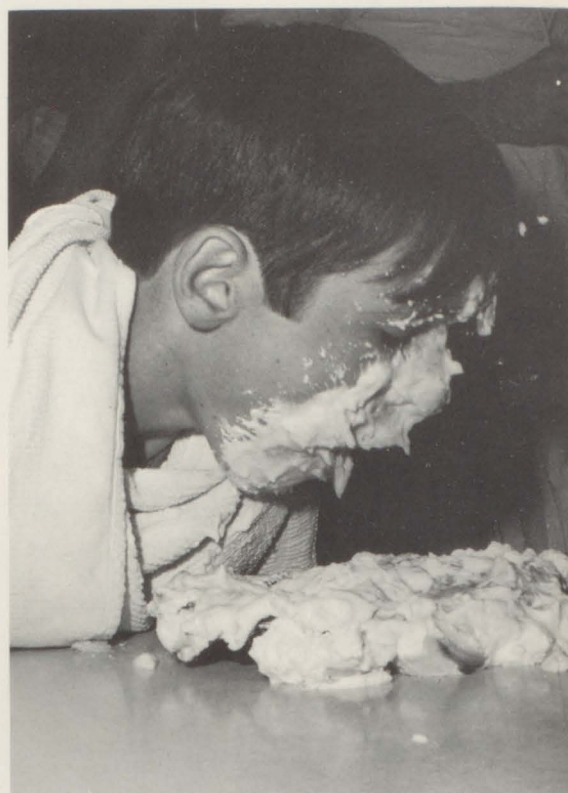

Sophomores—A Powerful Class

The Sophomore Class showed a lot of enthusiasm by placing first in the judging of the wall, first in the cart race and a first in the pie eating contest, despite getting only a second in the over total. Congratulations and good luck next year!

dall, Sandra Campbell, Lisa McCalmon, Andrea Thomas, Sally Green, and Cynthia Stein. SEATED ON GROUND:

Linda Backman, Barbara Rawley, and Gayle Philps. STAND-ING: Debra Tomchuck. These are the eleven sophomore girls nominated for the queen's court.

FAR LEFT: Richard Ramsey smiles cyni-cally as he wings his way down the aisle on the tricycle. LEFT: President Alex Dalrymple smiles a big smile for his great class. BELOW: Sophomores grunt as Freshmen pull them across the line in the tug-a-war contest. The sophomores may have the needed spirit, but they don't have strength.

Despite Enthusiasm, the Juniors Fail!

ABOVE: Elizabeth Cargo and Larry Heglar do the Mardi Gras up "holy". RIGHT: Joanne Lapish exclaims, "Oooh, I think I'm going to be sick!" as the egg oozes through her fingers. BELOW: The Junior wall, a Trick or Treat bag, gets a 2nd place.

Though it is natural for the Juniors to be the first place winners in the judging of the wall, they aren't feeling so bad. They've just plain decided to try again next year, but will the Junior class succeed? They only have one more chance left! Good luck and fight with all you've got Juniors!

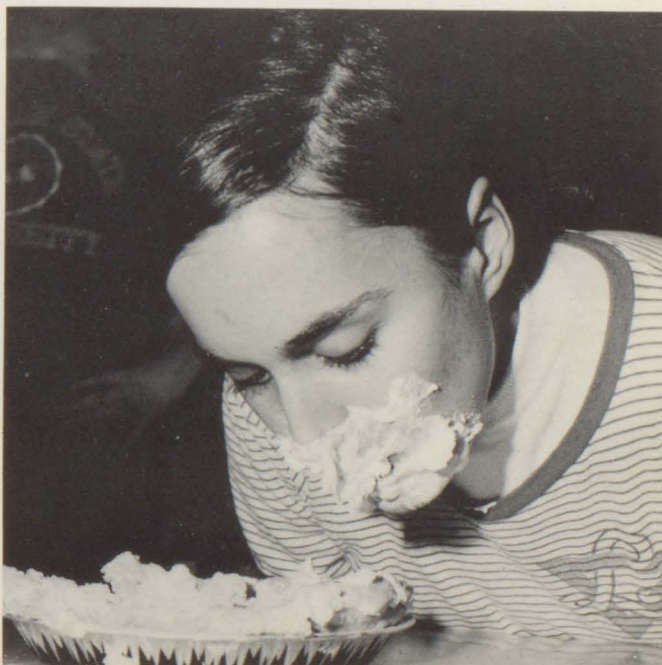

Junior Candidates: Denise Suber, Jeanette Thornton, Candy Guizar, Debra Bowersox, Vicki Tibedeau, C a r o l Wixson,

Seniors Make a "Grave" Attempt

The traditional slogan, "Senior Power", holds true 100% this year as the class of '70 retains their title of Mardi Gras winners. Although they came in last place in the wall contest, they never lost that spark which a winner needs.

Bird Watchers on the Look-Out!!!

The Bird Watchers' Club, just organized for the first time this year, is a group of boys who claim to be interested in watching birds. They presented a Bird Watchers' code at their first meeting which is to be recited every time they unite. The following is the Bird Watchers' Code, word for word: "I, as a member of the Port Huron Northern Bird Watchers' Society, on my honor will do my best:
Never to fondle, filch, freeze, famish or otherwise forsake our feathered friends
To obey the bird laws

Never to confuse the Flicker with the Flounder, or other such blasphemous acts
To uphold the integrity and high morals of a bird
To keep on good terms with Birds, with no regrets
Above all, to promote better understanding and goodwill between Northern students and Northern birds.

If I am caught in violation of these statutes, my fellow Bird Watchers may either suspend my membership or Whip-poor-will-my favorite bird."

BOTTOM ROW: Andrea Thomas, Susan Thomas, Stephanie Dudas, Becky Langolf, Linda Gregory, Sherry Kendrick, Roberta Irwin, Carol Baker, Debbie Nunn, Gloria Swick, and Stephanie Metrink.

Northern Athletics and Activities for Girls

Maintaining the largest club membership in this school, the G.A.A. continues to serve the school and community by promoting physical fitness, good sportsmanship and healthy human relationships. Any girl can be a member of G.A.A. by simply being active. Any member can be proud of the tradition because Northern's G.A.A. has won championships in softball, volleyball, physical fitness, tennis, and swimming, (without having a pool.) Northern and the community greatly appreciate all the time and effort given faithfully through the last 3 years by Miss Bette Hartig.

Let's Get Together Before We Go!

The day has finally arrived, the day that seemed so far away four years ago and is now so close.

As we laugh at those embarrassing moments and try to forget the poor exams, we remember all the fun . . . the pride of winning the Mardi Gras Barrel two years running, the excitement of the last football game, the tension of college boards, and the sweet sadness of the Senior Assembly. For the Senior year is filled with the past, present, and future.

RIGHT: Proud Seniors pause from practices for graduation exercises to form the symbol of their pride and say, "We're the very best to be—we're the Class of Seventy".

BELOW: Only minutes before graduation exercises, these members of the Senior class gather, not for the very last time, but perhaps for the last time as Northern students.

They're on Their Way!

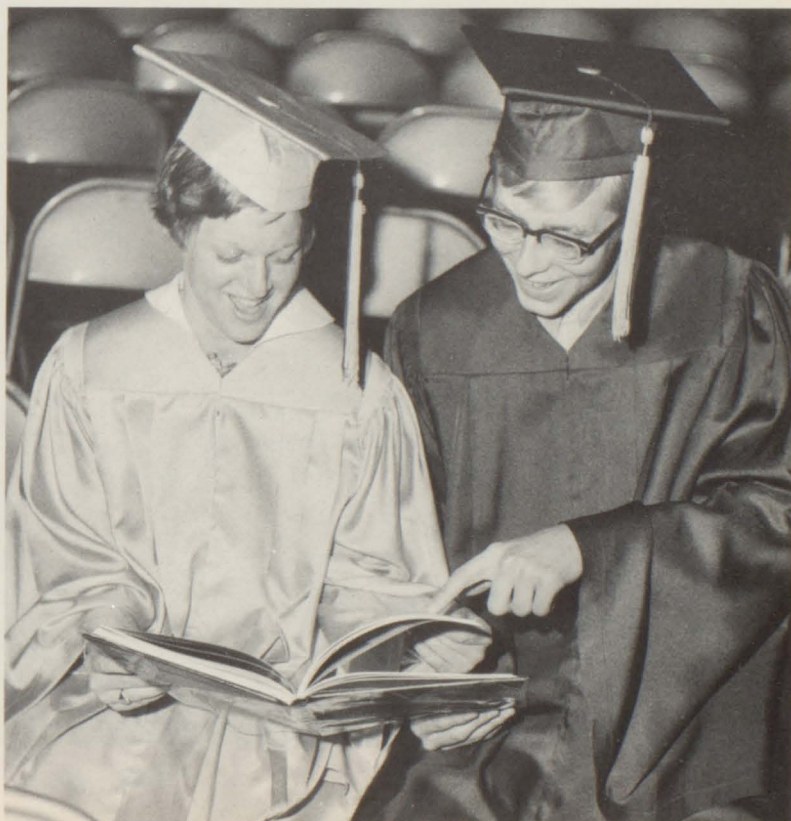

ABOVE: Ambitious Seniors Robin Johnson, Patrick Sommerville, James Fraser, James McPhee, Beverly Crankshaw, Laurie Melms, Randy Piotter, and Michael Byers drive into the future—never knowing what it holds in store for them. They have hopes for a smooth drive through life.

the Spirit of '70 holds many memories and thoughts for Northern's Seniors.

JUNIORS—Valuable Moments

for Enlightening Thoughts

Devoted, capable and enthusiastic are adjectives that describe Northern's class of '71. The halls nor the experiences are new, but their outlook reflects a change of thought. They are faced with new responsibilities. They are no longer able to sit back and be led, they must lead. The Junior class takes on their new duties with admirable ease. Their enthusiasm and devotion are qualities that constitute a superior class. Although pensive moments are now entering their lives, the Junior class never forgets the meaning of class competition and play. Their eager spirit and capabilities keep all classes on their toes and truly makes them upperclassmen.

Everybody gets "sick and tired" of classes and James Stevenson is no exception as he takes time out to rest in the clinic.

SOPHOMORES—Cloudless Moments

for Encompassing Thoughts

Ready, willing and able are words that easily describe the class of '72 as they confidently venture through the halls of Northern. The class is ready to explore vast areas of learning, willing to take an active part in their school, and able to accept any challenges that await them. With a year's experience behind them, the Sophomore class has a visible sense of security which enables them to actively take part at Northern. Under able leadership, the class constructed the winning wall at the Mardi Gras. The Sophomore class can be summed up as a well-rounded, spirited class. No matter what the project is the class is noted for doing their best.

In Memoriam

Laurie Eldridge

James Goodson

They that love beyond the world can not be separated by it. Death can not kill what never dies. Death is but crossing the world as friends do the seas; they live in one another still. This is the comfort of friends, that though they may be said to die, yet their friendship and society are, in the best sense, ever present because immortal.

FRESHMEN—Anxious Moments

for Innocent Thoughts

Wonder, anxiety and innocence are words that readily describe the faces of the class of '73 as they first walk the halls of Northern. The familiar phrases—"Which hall is the south one? Where is the library? 503! Where is that?"—are heard during the first few weeks of their high school experience. Their enthusiastic attitude towards the Mardi Gras and the Magazine Sale will make them a class not easily cast aside. During the Freshman year, patterns are established that will serve as a guide through their high school years. The patterns set by this class will be advantageous to them and others in the coming years. Their fresh spirit makes them an asset at Northern.

"And it's a fair wind, blowin' warm out of the south over my shoulder. Guess I'll set a course and go."

Crosby, Stills, and Nash

Without the help of others, this book would not be what it is today. On this final page, I would like to recognize those who have helped; Nancy Davies, cover design; Derry Dunn, art work; Mary Lou Kall and Bob Hagemann; the business managers, Sue Carpo and Martha Perry; and especially head photographer, Doug Norton, who is responsible for the color in this book.

The Spirit of '70 Staff deserves credit for the long hours they spent after school working on the book. Assisting them were Mrs. Daphne Rantanen's advanced typing class; Mr. Larry Smith, our advisor; Mr. John Studt, from Inter-Collegiate Press; and The Port Huron Times Herald.

But the book could not exist without you, the students of Port Huron Northern High School, the Faculty, the Administrators, the office personnel, and the advertisers.

Sandra Standel
